2 APRIL 2020 - amaysim has launched its second mobile offer to help Aussies stay connected during COVID-19. Available from today, new customers who sign up to amaysim's 55GB plan will pay only $15 for the first renewal.

This comes just over a week after it handed out FREE additional data for all of its mobile customers as the demand for data spiked with more Australians working and studying from home.

amaysim Chief Executive Officer and Co-Founder, Peter O'Connell said, "We know the last couple of months have been extremely challenging for Aussies everywhere, and that it's more important than ever that people are able to stay connected with their family, friends and colleagues during this time.

"We had such an overwhelmingly positive response from those who received the additional data boost last month that we decided to take it one step further and offer some serious value to new customers. Our customers are at the heart of everything we do - whether that's giving unlimited data over the summer or stepping up with data when they really need it - we want them to know that we are here and will support them in any way we can."

This offer ends 30 April with data remaining at 55GB for $40 per renewal ongoing. As with all amaysim mobile plans, this offer includes unlimited standard national talk and text.
